As the year progresses, I am still learning what works and what doesn't. I have an amazing 7th grade team and we are always helping each other with new ideas. I learned of a website called Quizizz that I will be utilizing from time to time. This will be done on the computer and is an in-class assignment. It's more of a morning warm-up that won't have to be made up if missed.

I am also changing my no late work accepted policy. Late work will be accepted for a 70%. If they use one of their passes, then they can still turn it in the next day for full credit. I'll have a late work basket on the counter for them to put their assignments in.

If they don't have a pass and their assignment is late, they will have lunch time detention.

The class is aware of this. I will put up a missing work report weekly on the wall for each class. Please continue to look at your child's progress on Parent Connect.

Week of September 17th

For history, the class will work on a few more assignments for chapter one. There will be a fun Jeopardy! game they will play, they'll watch a video about Rome and have some time to work on their Interactive Notebook, which is due on Friday. Just a reminder that they will be able to use their notebook for their test chapter one test.

In ELA, 3rd/4th and 5th/6th period will begin a new story. They'll work on writing paragraphs, writing an objective summary and start a language lesson on different types of sentences.

I used to buy my elementary class donuts occasionally when the Miami Dolphins would win. That was when I only had 35 students. It makes it difficult with 104, but I'm still keeping the ten-year tradition alive. 2nd period got to taste victory this past week. 3rd/4th period is up next come October.

CLASSROOM DONATIONS

Donations are always accepted for the class. We are always in need of hand sanitizer, Clorox wipes, and Kleenex. Thank you!
