"Whatever It Takes"

In ELA, we started a new story called "The Other Side of the Sky." It's about a seven year-old girl who has a prosthetic leg and her mom trying to escape Afghanistan. The class started to answer questions on it last week and will continue this week (3/4 & 5/6 only).

From time to time, I my assign a language worksheet. It's very important that they pay attention and follow directions for these. They are fairly easy, but if they don't underline or change things, they could miss a lot. If for some reason they are absent or leave it at school, I have the whole book available on my website in the ELA tab. There are directions as well on how to find the right page.

CLASSROOM DONATIONS
Donations are always accepted for the class. We are always in need of hand sanitizer, Clorox wipes, and Kleenex. Thank you!

Week of September 24th

I'm still waiting on several students to turn in their interactive notebook. They can still get up to 45 points provided they have a table of contents, notes and colored pictures. Below are some examples that were turned in.

Each history class will be getting in groups this week and making a newspaper based on information from chapter one. Each person is responsible for an article and a drawing or picture to go with it. They can have someone else draw a picture from their group if they'd like. They will need Sharpies, crayons, colored pencils and/or markers.
